

JUDGE SHACKELFORD SAYS SEND CRIMINALS TO JAIL

Tells Chief Cause For Crime Wave In Delivering Vigorous Charge to Grand Jury

"Because juries will not convict people who are guilty" is the real reason for the crime wave which is being noted all over the country, declared Circuit Judge Shackelford, in his charge to the grand jury at the opening of the February term of the Madison circuit court here Monday.

The Judge gave his hearers, who included a full room of spectators as well as the jurymen, some mighty cogent reasoning on the criminal situation, too, in the course of his remarks. He hit the nail on the head time and again and some of his hearers looked like they would have been pleased to add a little applause to the intense interest which the Judge's clear-cut observations aroused throughout his whole address to the grand jury men.

"If the bank robber is in the penitentiary, he can't rob any more banks and the man who is in jail for carrying a deadly weapon concealed, can't shoot anyone," said the Judge in the course of his earnest appeal for enforcement of the law. Few charges as strong for law enforcement have ever been heard anywhere, as that delivered by Judge Shackelford. He did not mince words but shot straight from the shoulder.

"Every community has just as much law enforcement as it wants," he said. "If you find a community where the law is not being enforced, it is because the people do not want the law enforced. It is a lawless community. If the juries of a court won't convict the lawbreakers, it is because the community doesn't want the law enforced. The whole thing is up to the grand and the petit juries whether a community is to be law-abiding or lawless. My suggestion for the certain suppression of crime is the prompt and sure conviction of criminals; put them in places where they can't commit crimes."

"If criminals find out that public opinion of a community, through its juries, demands and sees to it that law violators get swift, prompt and adequate punishment, they are going to give that community a wide berth. And at a time which seems upon us, when the paramount question is whether or not the criminal element is going to be allowed to control society, I say to you frankly that the man who is in the penitentiary can't rob a bank and the man in jail can't shoot any one with a concealed deadly weapon."

Judge Shackelford further along deplored the "sickly sentimentality" that is sometimes found with regard to criminals. He said that there was no question but that a criminal would seek a place in which to live where the juries wouldn't convict or there was such a sentiment in favor of trying to cure criminals rather than give them the strongest conviction possible. He said that you can't cure crime, but must cut it off. It's like gangrene on the body politic; it must be cut off.

Judge Shackelford referred to the "highly rhetorical" newspaper observations of Gov. Morrow on enforcement of the Volstead law and said that it seemed to him that murder, assault, carrying concealed weapons also needed some attention from the officials. He admonished the grand jury to thoroughly investigate if any violations of the liquor laws were to be found. He told them to find out if any one is selling Jamaica ginger, hot drops or any of the other concoctions that nowadays cause men to go crazy, and to assault, kill and rob. These mixtures make a regular devil out of a man, said the Judge, and were not to be compared with the "good liquor" of the old days, which, he had observed usually had a more or less benevolent effect, and made everybody happy. He said that he had noted that the ingredient named as being used in some of the "white lightning" was given as 25 per cent corn spirits, 25 per cent poison ivy and 50 per cent bad potash. The Judge branded any man who would sell a man such stuff as not only a violator of the law in the sale but as no better than a poisoner, or murderer.

Violations of the dog law requiring licensing of canines, the compulsory education law, reckless automobile driving and other offenses were fully covered by the Judge. His address to the grand jury was complete and to the point. The members of the grand jury who were drawn and after the charge, went to work are: C. B. Wills, foreman, Lewis Brandenburg, Frank Chase, E. M. Jones, Jephtha Jett, May Lane, J. Morgan Evans, Roscoe Whitlock, J. A. Moore, W. B. Lackey, Ollie Tudor and George Ginter.

SEVEN BLOWN TO DEATH AT SCHOOL

(By Associated Press)
Lawrenceville, Ill., Feb. 8.—A coroner's jury here today returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of the school teacher and seven pupils who were blown to pieces in an explosion of a can of nitroglycerine at a country school house near here yesterday. A small amount of the explosive adhered to the sides of the can. Other cans in a similar condition were found in the vicinity today. The scene of the explosion was in the heart of the Illinois oil fields, where large amounts of nitroglycerine are used to shoot wells.

STILL TIGHTER

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Feb. 8.—Shipments of liquor from one foreign country to another via the United States are prohibited by the National prohibition act, according to Acting Attorney General Neuberger. The ruling was made public today. The effect, according to prohibition officials, will be to cut off another source of illegal liquor supply, particularly with the cessation of shipment from Canada to Cuba and Mexico. These shipments frequently disappeared en route.

RED ARMY IS GREATEST MENACE

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Feb. 8.—Great Britain will not undertake to race with the United States for sea power, Sir Phillip Gibbs, a British war correspondent, told the House Naval Committee today. England has not sufficient money, he said, and any way, most Englishmen do not regard the American navy as a menace.

He asserted before any agreement for disarmament could be reached by the principal powers the Russian question would have to be settled. He said Russia should be included in any disarmament conference. He characterized the Russian Red army as the greatest military menace in the world. Meanwhile, he said, there is a spirit of revolt in Europe entirely apart from Bolshevism because of fear of another war, adding that the people felt they had been betrayed in the last war because they had been told the war was to end war, but England now finds that she herself is spending for armament more than twice the entire national budget for all purposes before the war.

BENNETT PORTRAIT IN COURT ROOM

Oil Painting Is Added To Gallery of Distinguished Men of Other Days

Presentation and acceptance of a handsome oil painting of the late Senator John Bennett, to hang in the circuit court room, was an interesting feature of the opening of Madison circuit court Monday morning. The presentation was made by Mr. Waller Bennett, brother of the deceased. The portrait was painted by Miss Adelaide Everheart, of Atlanta, who frequently visits here.

Formal acceptance of the portrait was made by Judge W. R. Shackelford from the bench. Judge Shackelford paid high tribute to the abilities of Senator Bennett as a lawyer and a citizen. Others who also did so were Hon. W. B. Smith, Judge John C. Chenault, and Hon. C. C. Wallace. In the course of his remarks, Judge Chenault read the resolutions adopted by the bar at the time of Senator Bennett's death in 1903, and which he moved be enrolled upon the minutes of the court now, such procedure having been overlooked at that time. It will be of interest at this time when the portrait has just been hung, to reproduce the resolutions adopted at the time of Senator Bennett's death, and which read as follows:

RESOLUTIONS
Resolutions of Respect Presented by the Hon. Curtis F. Burnam, Chairman of the Richmond Bar; ex-Assistant Secretary of the United States Treasury under President Grant; Member Constitutional Convention of Kentucky, State Senator Twenty-ninth district; Oldest Living Member Richmond Bar.

A meeting of the local bar was held at the court house, Saturday afternoon to pay a tribute to the memory of Senator John Bennett and express the appreciation and high esteem in which Mr. Bennett was held by his associates, a committee, composed of Senator Jas. E. McCreary, C. H. Breck, W. B. Smith, Jas. W. Caperton, C. F. Burnam and J. A. Sullivan, had been appointed to draft suitable resolutions concerning the death of Mr. Bennett, and their report was made to the bar by the chairman Major Burnam. The speeches made by various members were all the more impressive because those present knew that every word spoken was the truth and the memory of Mr. Bennett richly merited any tribute paid.

The following memorial, reported by the committee above mentioned, was adopted, and upon motion, was ordered published in the local papers: The members of the bar and officers of the Madison county courts pay this tribute to the memory of Hon. John Bennett, who after a long illness, died in this town on the 14th day of May, A. D., 1903.

He was born in Madison county, in March, 1837, being the second son of Samuel and Elizabeth Chenault Bennett; was thus on the paternal and maternal side descended from families widely known, and who illustrated the highest and best types of our citizenship.

After a time spent at college and in the clerk's office of the Madison county courts he obtained license to practice law, and was admitted to the bar in 1859; became County Attorney and continued in the practice of his profession chiefly in the courts of Madison, Estill, Owsley and the Court of Appeals until about two years ago when his health broke down.

He was long associated with William Chenault, Esq., and was at all times courteous to his brethren in the bar, true to his clients and respectful to the courts, and was in all these relations, esteemed and indeed, greatly beloved. Twice during his life he was elected by his fellow citizens to the Senate of Kentucky, and by his ability, integrity and faithful service in endeavoring to secure the welfare of his immediate constituents, and of the whole commonwealth, commanded the esteem and confidence of political friends and foes alike. Every impulse of John Bennett was for what is right; every promise made by him to his brethren of the bar was religiously kept, and he at all times squared his professional life by the true ethics of the profession, and for these ennobling qualities his surviving brothers all loved him and will long treasure the memory of their intercourse with him.

Mr. Bennett had in our social and business circles the highest rank. He was the Commissioner of Kentucky at the World's Fair held at Chicago. He was long President of the Farmers' National Bank. He was not only an advocate of, but a generous contributor to those educational and internal improvements interests which were organized in Madison county for its civilization and its onward progress, often at the cost of personal sacrifice and pecuniary loss. Mr. Bennett held to the sense of duty so beautifully expressed by Daniel Webster, "with conscience satisfied with the discharge of duty, no consequences can harm us. This sense of duty is omnipresent, performed or violated, it remains with us for our happiness or misery, to pain us if violated, and to console us if God has given us grace to perform it."

HEARD ABOUT TOWN

Revenue Agents J. F. Kavanaugh and B. P. Epes, of the Lexington office, were here Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. T. J. Smith continues quite ill. Reports from his bedside Tuesday stating there was no decided improvement in his condition.

Friends regret exceedingly to hear discouraging news from the bedside of Mrs. Pauline Arnold, who is critically ill at Arlington. A special nurse is in constant attendance and report that she is a little more comfortable Tuesday noon.

The crowd here court day was a big one and notwithstanding things are supposed to be "tight" in some places, trading was brisk in nearly all lines. Several of the local business men who have been advertising sales in the Daily Register, report that their stores were crowded with buyers nearly all day.

ESTEEMED VETERAN IS DEAD AT COYLE

Jerry A. Todd, a veteran of the Civil War, lifelong member of the Baptist church and esteemed and respected by all who knew him, died at his home in Coyle, this county, Sunday morning at four o'clock. He was laid to rest in the family burying ground there Tuesday afternoon. His wife and six children, three daughters and three sons, survive. Rev. O. Olin Green, pastor of the First Baptist church of Richmond, conducted the funeral services of this good man.

Money For Farmers

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Feb. 8.—The Senate Agriculture committee today unanimously approved a measure to authorize the treasury to purchase a hundred million dollars in farm loan bonds to make available funds for loans to farmers. Such loans were held up pending the Supreme Court decision on the validity of the farm loan act.

It will be a pleasant recollection to all to know that in his last illness when he felt that his end was drawing nigh, he publicly professed his faith in Christianity, and received the ordinances of the Methodist church and that he passed peacefully to his rest, and in the meridian of his life, was summoned to his Master.

RICHMOND GIRL IN MARITAL MIXUP

Winchester Paper Says She Prefers Charges of Bigamy Against Husband

(From Monday's Winchester Sun)

Mrs. Camilla Little, of New Orleans, pretty little woman apparently of French or Spanish descent, arrived in Kentucky this week, in search of her husband, George Little, ex-soldier, whom she believed had deserted her for another woman. Arriving here she learned that he had married Miss Mary Hopper, a Richmond girl, and she then went to Richmond, and returned here with the second wife. When the two women entered the office of County Attorney H. M. Moore, they each gave the name of Mrs. George Little.

The first wife says she is very much in love with Little, and wants him to live with her. She therefore refused to prosecute him. The second wife feels differently, declares she has been made a dupe, and is anxious that the husband be prosecuted.

The second wife swore out a warrant against him, charging him with bigamy. The present whereabouts of Little is unknown. Mrs. Camilla Little says she found Little last week in Jackson, that they spent some hours together, but that he left the next day and she has not seen him since.

The warrant sworn to by Mrs. Mary Little was placed in the hands of Sheriff H. Clay Hodgkin.

Mrs. Camilla Little says she married Little while he was in army service in 1918. It is charged that he married Miss Hopper in February, 1920. The first Mrs. Little became suspicious three months ago, when she failed to receive letters from her husband. Growing desperate in love and jealousy, she decided to come to Kentucky in search of him.

The two women seem to regard Little as "our husband," and apparently very little animosity towards each others.

Little had been divorced before he married either of the women.

OVER 900 GET DOG LICENSES MONDAY

With the prospect of indictment facing them over 900 dog owners took out license tags for their pets in the office of County Clerk J. W. Maupin here Monday.

Dr. R. L. Davison, of Stanford, representing the State Board of Agriculture, blew in bright and early Tuesday morning, prepared to take out warrants for those who have not paid their dog tax. He came here from Perry county where he took out warrants for 1,728 dog owners. Dr. Davison is kept mighty busy seeing to it that the dog law is enforced. He says that many people think that it is a dead letter, but his department is determined to enforce it, and he is making a vigorous campaign to see that it is done.

Chronic Constipation

There are people who never have a movement of the bowels without it is produced by a cathartic. Most of them have brought that condition on themselves by the use of mineral waters and strong cathartics that take too much water out of the system and aggravate the disease they are meant to relieve. A mild laxative tonic like Chamberlain's Tablets affords a gentle movement of the bowels that you hardly realize has been produced by a medicine, and their use is not as likely to be followed by constipation.

SAMUELS TO RAID IN KENTON COUNTY

Local Prohibition Officer Sent To Covington—Still Found In Laurel and Estill

Prohibition Agent Hugh M. Samuel spent Monday and Tuesday here with his family, and before circuit court, in regard to a number of liquor cases. He goes from here to Covington, where his office has a big investigation of whisky frauds under way, it is whispered, although Mr. Samuel expresses ignorance of the purpose of his mission to the Kenton county capital.

Three moonshine stills aggregating 200 gallons capacity, a small quantity of whisky, several hundred gallons of "still beer," and much other equipment found with the three outfits, were destroyed Saturday by prohibition officers working under the direction of Chief U. G. McFarland.

Two of the stills, one of 100 gallons capacity, and of 50 gallons, were captured by Agent C. L. Winfrey, assisted by Sheriff W. H. Steele and three deputies, near East Bernstadt, Laurel county. The two outfits were located at the same place, under a rock ledge on what is known as "Johnson's Ridge," known to raiders and revenue agents for years as a notorious moonshining district.

No arrests were made in connection with the raid. Agent Winfrey said a run had just been made and the boilers were still hot when the raid was made. Four gallons of white whisky were found buried in half-gallon fruit jars near the site of the still.

The third still, a 50-gallon outfit, was captured near Old Landing, Estill county, by Agents J. V. Kavanaugh and J. H. Reynolds.

Lucien Ashcraft, 45, farmer, was arrested by the officers and taken to Lexington Sunday afternoon. He was arraigned before Commissioner Charles N. Ward on a charge of moonshining. Ashcraft pleaded guilty to the charge and was held to the April term of Richmond court under bond of $500, which he made and was released.

The illicit distillery was found in an old log house within a hundred yards of Ashcraft's residence and he was waiting for the "still beer" to ferment apparently preparatory to making a run when the officers arrested him, the latter said. Six hundred gallons of beer, thirty sacks of meal, and a quantity of malt corn were found. Several hundred feet of rubber hose, through which the water was pumped by gravity from a stream, was destroyed with the still.

REAL BEER IS POURED OUT

Louisville, Feb. 7.—Three hundred and twenty dozen bottles of real beer were poured into a sewer here today by federal agents on orders of Federal Judge Evans. The beer was manufactured by the Falls City Brewing Co., last May thru an error, brewery officials said. The brewery was allowed to salvage the bottles.

FENCES MAY HAVE TO BE MOVED BACK

Along Lexington Pike As Government Demands 40-Foot Road Width Wherever It Helps

District Engineer Johnson, from the State Road Department, is here making his headquarters at Richmond, during the preliminary work of surveying the Lexington pike. State Road Engineer Joe S. Boggs spent Sunday and Monday at his home here and went over the plans with Engineer Johnson. Work is to be pushed on this highway. The survey work will soon be done, blue prints then made and advertisement for bids will come next. Mr. Boggs is very sanguine that a contract can be secured that will provide for the completion of the work this year.

However, he gives little hope of the city of Richmond being able to get the state and government to assist in the paving of the about half a mile of West Main street to connect up the city's paved streets with the work in the county that will soon be started. He says that the government has ruled against assisting any city over 2,500 population in doing street paving work on the federal aid plan, and for that reason does not believe it will be possible for Richmond to secure such co-operation. This will be a great disappointment in town here, for the gap in the paving will be unsightly and spoil the appearance of what gives promise otherwise of being a very attractive roadway.

It is understood that the survey being made shows that a number of fences are going to have to be moved back along the Lexington pike before the new work begins. The government's road-making regulations call for a minimum width of forty feet for any road it is building, and some of the farmers along the Lexington pike are going to have to move back their fences. It is really hinted that several of them are farther out on the pike than they have a right to be under their deeds anyway. However, practically all who have mentioned the matter, have expressed the greatest willingness to move back as far as desired in order to assist in the work of making the best roadway to be found anywhere in this section of the state.

Uncle Sam Gets Busy

Washington, Feb. 8.—A bill authorizing the appropriation of $100,000,000 for road improvements during the fiscal year 1922 was passed today by the House 278 to 58.

The measure also would make available for an additional two years' Federal funds already allotted to states for road work, but not expended. Taken up under suspension of rules, the bill needed a two-thirds vote for passage.

"Chu Chin Chow" This Week

The brilliant London and New York success, "Chu Chin Chow," a musical extravaganza of the Orient, will be presented by R. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest at Macauley's Theatre, Louisville, entire week of February 7. "Chu Chin Chow" is a musical extravaganza of the Orient, originally produced in London four years ago by Oscar Ashe, and is still running there in His Majesty's Theatre. It was sponsored by Mr. Ashe and the late Sir Henry Tree and scored such an enormous success that its fame went around the world.

Our annual remnant sale which begins Friday, February 11, will bring to you more bargains than ever before. Owen McKee.

ATTENTION TOBACCO GROWERS

PLACE ORDERS FOR TOBACCO SEED NOW

The blight wildflower or rust which destroyed so many crops of tobacco last season and so seriously injured many more, has caused a great money loss to the farmers and will cause many who wish to escape or minimize as far as possible this danger in 1921, to consider the quality of the tobacco seed which they will sow this year, if it is determined to sow any, and to inquire carefully as to when, where and by whom the same was produced.

No one seems to know the source or cause of this disease. Some contend that it was produced entirely by weather conditions and that the disease is not transmitted from the plant to its seed, while others believe that whatever may be the source or cause of the disease it may be so transmitted. Therefore, in order to avoid as far as possible the risk of the same trouble in the 1921 crop, all farmers should avoid planting any seed harvested from any crop of tobacco raised on any field or even near any field where the disease appeared, even though in a mild form; and this for the reason that no one knows to what extent it may again appear in crops grown from such seed.

In view of these facts every farmer should try to raise his plants for this year's crop from seed produced from the 1919 crop of tobacco, and avoid, if possible, the use of any seed from the 1920 crop.

It is the "hit or miss" farmer who is willing to take the chance of using such seed.

Our advice is to sow the best seed obtainable, for it is the cheapest and best in the end, and take as little risk as possible this year.

We must admit that we do not know what caused the disease during the past year and have no theory as to how to prevent it except to use care in the selection of seed.

This disease did not appear in the 1919 crop, and therefore we think that the use of seed from the 1919 crop is safer than the seed from the 1920 crop.

It is quite likely that the seed from the 1919 crop is limited in quantity and therefore it becomes the more important for the farmers who desire such seed to secure the necessary quantities as soon as possible and before the supply is exhausted.

Among the well known and leading brands of such seed which has been tested for a number of years in the Burley district and well known throughout said section by the farmers, is "Judy's Pride," produced and sold by W. S. Judy Seed Company, of Lexington, Ky., which has made a business for a number of years of producing this well known and tested variety.

In order to avoid any danger of contributing to the recurrence of rust this company burned and destroyed all the seed produced from their 1920 crop, which was cultivated solely for the purpose of securing the seed.

They are now offering to the farmers only the seed produced from their 1919 crop, of which they have only a limited quantity left. This will go to the farmers in the nature of a "first aid," and gives them an opportunity to avoid whatever risk or loss might result from rust, and they are offering this to the farmer.

This seed was carefully grown and saved from choice stalks only, and the farmers can rest assured that the use of this seed will reduce the danger of loss from rust to the minimum.

The Hardest Job in Every Business

In nearly every line production has been increased on account of the war. The hardest job ahead is to find a market in peace times for what those factories turn out. Money is made—not in manufacturing—but in selling. Yet selling seldom receives the attention it deserves.

The number of factories a manufacturer can build—the profit he can earn—are limited by the amount of merchandise for which he can find a profitable market.

If demand can be kept ahead of production, a profitable market is sure. And the one way to keep demand ahead of production is by advertising—teaching the public to use more of your goods.

In the past the South has bent her energies on manufacturing. The marketing of her products were largely left to others who took the raw materials and staples and converted them into specialties, trade-marked, advertised and sold them. And, invariably, it is the selling of specialties that pays the wide margin of profit and the selling of staples that pays the slim.

Greater profits—keeping conditions in our hands instead of on them—depend upon our marketing our goods as well as upon our making them.

The South's cotton goods should be known by brand-names in Detroit just as we know and buy the various makes of automobiles produced by the citizens of that enterprising Michigan city.

Lumber, of which the South is the Nation's greatest possessor, will be needed for reconstruction and the merits of our various woods should be convincingly told by advertising.

The South is the greatest fat-producing section of America. In the vegetable oils from her cotton-seed, peanuts and soy beans she produces more fat than all the dairy cows of America—more fat than all the hogs slaughtered in a year. More Southern-made and marketed compound lards and salad oils would bring additional millions into Dixie.

Cane syrups, coffees and all the other epicurean delights for which the South is famed would find a bigger demand if backed by adequate advertising. And such a demand would automatically fix a profitable price.

Marketing our products as well as making them would furnish work for the hands and brains of our returning sons—provide room for the tallest ambition and stop the emigration to the North and West of the talented and ambitious.

There was a time when we could sell the merchant and let him push the goods. But today the hardware, grocery and drug stores will carry from 2,000 to 10,000 different items. Pushing any one is impossible.

Wise manufacturers are marking their goods so that they can be recognized—telling the public about their merits and inducing the folks to pull them off of the shelves. And in this respect, at least, an ounce of "pull" is worth a pound of "push."

The advertising agencies of the South have had years of experience in advertising and marketing many commodities. They know the methods that have proved successful—because their whole time is engrossed with the problems of selling.

Their contact with leading manufacturers in many lines has made them intimate with various methods of winning trade—methods of securing distribution—fighting substitution. It is their business to know how business is being built.

Their services cost nothing. They are paid a commission by the publishers to make advertising profitable to the manufacturer. It will be a revelation to many business men to know the varied forms of assistance these agencies can render—information on markets, containers, trademark law, distribution methods, dealer cooperation, service in preparing booklets, copy-writing and real information on the value of different classes of advertising media.

Write, wire or phone any of the accredited advertising agencies of the South and arrange a conference with them to discuss how to increase sales. Let them help you solve the hardest job ahead ner in which he portrays the scene in which he is supposed, as the brutal "Mr. Hyde," to injure a small child.

In some respects, according to Mr. Barrymore, this was one of the most difficult episodes in the whole story. The part of the child was played by a little three-year-old screen actor, Barrymore, in his hideous make-up and costume as "Hyde," feared to frighten the child and spoil the scene. He approached very gingerly and hesitated a moment before laying hands on his small victim.

"Don't be afraid of me, mister," said the child, looking up at this gruesome creature without a sign of fear.

Join the "Invisible" Guest Club

Have you a hospitable home? Do you entertain your friends? What does it cost you for an evening's entertainment? Will you entertain an "Invisible" Guest at your table and become a member of the "Invisible" Guest Club of America? It will cost you only Ten Dollars.

There are 3,500,000 undernourished, debilitated waifs and orphaned children in Eastern and Central Europe, whose lives must be preserved by American generosity and hospitality.

A Certificate of Membership in the "Invisible" Guest Club of America will be sent to you, signed by Herbert Hoover and Franklin K. Lane, National Chairman and Treasurer; also signed by the State Chairman of Kentucky.

If you will send your check for Ten Dollars, or more, to the European Relief Council, Richard Rean, Treasurer, Board of Trade Building, Louisville, Kentucky, or deposit this amount to his credit in any bank in Kentucky, you will receive an "Invisible" Guest Certificate by return mail.

Will you not join this "Invisible" Guest Club today?

Mother! Teach the Children Their Daily Health Duty

You can't be too insistent!

FEW children find pleasure in the things most vital to their physical comfort and health, so it rests with the watchful mother to see that they are done. The child will be grateful in after years.

Chief among the functions necessary to the upbuilding of the little body, so that it will not be a dyspeptic, constipated body when it matures, is elimination regularly every morning. If the mother will be insistent and allow nothing to interfere with it, it will soon become a habit, a daily routine that will not be forgotten throughout life.

There are times, however, when nature will not operate unaided. Then give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin and the headaches, the biliousness, the torpor will quickly disappear. It acts gently and without griping, and as it contains no narcotics and is pleasant to the taste, it may be given to infants. Thousands of families have been regulated to healthy maturity with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

A bottle can be bought at any drug store. In a large family there is always someone who would feel better for a dose of a good medicine like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 511 Washington Street, Monticello, Illinois.

hopes to do still more this year.

With $7,118,573.53, exclusive of maintenance for the state highway system, and state aid debts, available for road building this year, Mr. Boggs is of the opinion that the department is sufficiently financed to carry it through until the regular legislative session of 1922 can submit a road bond issue to popular vote or provide a permanent road fund by some other means.

In fact, Mr. Boggs said the state has all the money it could well spend on roads this year if there was a bond issue of $60,000,000 immediately available.

Realization that the department temporarily is in funds came with the information that all Federal aid apportioned up to June 30, 1922, is available at any time, although the state is not under compulsion to accept it until that date.

Deducting from the state road funds of $3,000,000 the $400,000 necessary to maintain the mileage already accepted as part of the state highway system, and $500,000 set apart annually to liquidate the debt due counties for money advanced for state aid, the department will have $3,100,000 of its own for construction from the following revenues:

Motor licenses	$2,000,000
3-cent ad valorem tax ..	600,000
Gasoline tax	400,000
	$3,000,000
	900,000
	$2,100,000

To which is added:
Federal aid

As 302 miles of work started last year is yet to be completed and as considerable construction put under contract this year will run over into the summer of 1922 with such work as will naturally be commenced that year, there will not be any serious diminution of operations until funds provided by the 1922 General Assembly are available.

Since this year promises to be propitious for undertaking road building programs because contractors will be competing for the work under conditions that should considerably lower the price and because labor will be seeking employment, Mr. Boggs has recommended that as much of the work as possible be started during the ensuing year.

Besides completing plans, letting contracts and supervising work on 649 miles of construction during the year, the department has surveys and plans prepared and ready for advertisement on 197.7 miles of additional federal and state aid projects; has completed surveys and has plans under way for 330.9 miles; and surveys alone of 234.5 miles, a total mileage surveyed of 1,410 miles, and plans completed for a total of 846 miles.

A recapitulation of the work undertaken and completed by the department in 1920 shows that contracts were let for 649.91 miles of road, at a cost of $7,687,567.38 and construction of 347.8 miles was completed as follows:

Miles Let
Federal Aid	205.61
State Aid	444.30
Total	649.91
Miles Completed
Federal Aid	102.80
State Aid	245.00
Total	347.80
Amount Involved
Federal Aid	$4,687,567.38
State Aid	3,000,000.00
Total	$7,687,567.38

Federal aid work has been done in 53 counties and state aid in 25 counties and the work has been progressing in 70 of the 120 counties during the year.

Federal aid work completed or practically completed in 1920 includes three miles in Boyd, 11 in Carter and 6 in Fayette on the Midland Trail; 5 in Mercer on the Lexington pike; 1 in Nelson and 4 in Jefferson on the Jackson Highway; 1 in Warren north from Bowling Green, and 1 mile in the city of Williamsburg. All of the 205.6 miles of federal aid work undertaken in 1920 is 50 per cent completed.

The work yet to be finished in various stages of construction are 4 miles in Boyd, 7 in Rowan, 15 in Carter, and 6 in Clark on the Midland Trail; 6 in Rockcastle on the Dixie; 3 in Hart on the Jackson; and 6 in Larue and 4 in Nelson; 4 in Todd on the Elkhorn-Fairview pike; 17 in Trigg on the Benton pike; 2 in Kenton on the Lexington pike; 7 in Mercer on the Lexington pike; 6 in Breathitt toward Wolfe county from Jackson; 5 in Bell on the Bell-Haarlau pike; 5 in Whitley on the Saxton-Jellico pike; 6 in Jessamine on the Lexington-Harrodsburg pike; 11 in Jefferson on the Ohio river road; 5 in Webster on the Henderson pike; 11 in Knox on the Pineville road; 10 in Hopkins on the Dixon road, and 7 on the Hopkinsville pike.

At the same time the state undertook the construction of 444.3 miles before July, 1920, under the old state aid law and has completed six miles in Adair, three in Anderson, two in Bath, 21 in Bracken, one in Campbell, 11 in Carter, one in Edmonson, portions of a mile in Flemingsburg and Greenup counties, one in Harrison seven in Henderson, one in Hopkins, five in Marion, one in Menifee, ten in Pike, three in Pendleton, two in Trigg and one in Versailles.

Incomplete mileage of state aid work lies in Allen, Anderson, Barren, Bath, Bell, Boyd, Bourbon, Campbell, Clinton, Casey, Cumberland, Daviess, Edmonson, Estill, Fleming, Garrard, Harlan, Harrison, Hart, Henderson, Hopkins, Henry, Knox, Larue, Laurel, Lawrence, Letcher, Logan, McClacken, Madison, Morgan, Menifee, Metcalfe, Monroe, Nelson, Ohio, Owen, Powell, Pulaski, Russell, Rockcastle, Shelby, Simpson, Todd, Trigg, Warren and

NATURAL GAS IS BEING EXHAUSTED

Supply Will Last Only 20 Years, Warns Engineering Expert.

SITUATION REALLY ACUTE

Imperative That Exhaustive Investigations Be Started to Determine the Most Practical Solution of Industrial Problems So Vitally Dependent on Our Natural Gas Supply—By-product Producer Gas Seen as Possible Remedy—Low Temperature Distillation Processes Receive Attention.

America's natural gas supply is being exhausted by criminal negligence and reckless extravagance, according to Prof. Robert H. Fernald, head of the department of mechanical engineering in the University of Pennsylvania, who in a survey for the American Society of Mechanical Engineers urges the use of by-product producer gas to relieve an acute national situation.

"The rapid exhaustion of our natural gas supply through criminal negligence and reckless extravagance resulting in drastic restrictions in order to conserve what little we have left brings us abruptly to a realization of the situation and leads us seriously to query regarding possible substitutes for this remarkable natural fuel," says Dr. Fernald, formerly engineer in investigations upon gas producers for the United States geological survey and the bureau of mines.

Situation Is Acute.
"The situation is acute. It is therefore imperative that we begin exhaustive investigations to determine the most practical solution of the industrial problems that have been for many years past so vitally dependent upon our natural gas supply. The results reached through such investigations may lead into channels quite different from those under consideration at the present time, as the necessity of the situation may develop unthought of possibilities.

"With the limited amount of study that has been given to this problem to date, the most conspicuous source of relief seems to be through the development of by-product producer gas. This, of course, is practically an unknown field in the United States. Spasmodic attempts to develop interest have come to the attention of engineers from time to time, but no serious study of the situation in its relation to the larger commercial developments of the country has as yet been undertaken.

"In Europe we find by-product producer gas somewhat extensively used and the large central station near the mines recovering the by-products from the fuel and distributing the gas under pressure for several miles through the industrial districts, has become a dependable source of supply.

"Through the abundance of our fuel supply and our indifference to the needs of future generations we have been ruthlessly extravagant and wasteful of our fuel resources during the past decades. An appreciation of the necessity of recovering by-products has but recently received thoughtful consideration from those agencies that are most seriously interested in the problems of fuel conservation.

Study and Research.
"At the present moment low temperature distillation processes are attracting more than casual attention. Investigation may show a combination of low temperature distillation and the manufacture of by-product producer gas to be a distinctly economical and commercial solution of our natural gas problems, as these processes, on the one hand, lead to the maximum by-product recovery, and, on the other, to a supply of gas commercially adaptable to heating and general industrial processes.

"Our natural gas situation is a serious one. The solution requires more than the casual financial interest of the private dividend seeker. It requires systematic study and research involving the expenditure of large sums of money. It is a problem of national importance and must be attacked on a broad basis. It calls for the best thought and most serious consideration of the ablest experts available, financially supported from sources that will guarantee the results of the investigation to be free from industrial and commercial bias.

"It has been estimated that two decades will see the total exhaustion of the natural gas supply. We cannot afford to wait longer."

Periodic Bilious Attacks.
Persons subject to periodic bilious attacks will observe that their appetite fails them just before an attack. That is, they do not really crave food but eat because it is meal time. If they will eat only a light meal and no meat, then take two of Chamberlain's Tablets the attack may be avoided.

MOTHER 'GAVE IT

Virginia Lady Suffered With Aches and Pains Until Mother Began Giving Her Cardui.

Dublin, Va.--Miss Mary Alice Hughett residing on Route 2, near here, recently told a visitor of her interesting experience with Cardui. Miss Hughett said: "I had been suffering for some time with painful, I was pale, didn't feel like going. Would just drag around, and couldn't rest to do any good. I would suffer once a month with my back, sides and head. My limbs would ache and I didn't know what to do, but I knew I must do something, for I didn't get well by letting it run on.
"My mother is a believer in Cardui, for she saw what it did for others as well as herself, so she began giving it to me.
"It wasn't long before I saw a change. It was just what I needed. It regulated me. I began to eat and sleep, and the pain stopped.
"Cardui is without doubt the best female tonic made, and I am glad I can recommend it to others.
"If suffering with symptoms such as Miss Hughett mentions, or other ailments peculiar to women, why not begin Cardui at once? Its merit is well established by successful use for more than 40 years.

RICHMOND WATER AND LIGHT COMPANY

The enterprise and progressive energy displayed by the Richmond Water and Light Company is of incalculable value to the advancement of Richmond's commercial interests and the development of her natural resources and advantages. This is one of the important industrial institutions of this city and the concern has always kept abreast of the times by meeting the demands of an increasing population. It is an enterprise vitally connected with the everyday existence of this community. The concern supplying water and gas to the city must afford a service to the public that is uniformly satisfactory, for the general public is always quick to resent inferior and unworthy service, with the consequent undesirable conditions for all parties concerned.

The fact that the Richmond Water & Light Company is generally regarded as a public service enterprise fully performing its duty to the community in which it is located, is substantial evidence of the efforts of the concern to afford the utmost facilities possible under all circumstances.

This enterprise was incorporated in 1890. It uses 14 miles of water mains in the operation of its water system. The reservoirs of the water plant are located two and one half miles from Richmond and compose 300 acres of land, 100 acres of which are under water. One of the reservoirs is supplied with fish from government hatcheries and affords the people a splendid place to fish or to go for an outing. The normal water pressure in Richmond is 75 pounds, but in case of fire the pressure is increased to 125 pounds by closing an electric valve, thereby giving direct pressure from the plant's pumps. This change can be made in three minutes.

The water furnished by this concern is tested monthly by the State Board of Health of Louisville, and daily by themselves and at no time has traces of any disease germs been found in it.

The gas plant of the Richmond Water & Light Company is located in the northern part of the city. The concern has 316 customers in this department of their business and furnishes a high quality of gas at all times.

They handle a full line of gas stoves, ranges, fixtures and other appliances. The offices of the concern are located at 243-245 East Main street in a modern building which contains the largest plate glass windows in Richmond.

Ben R. Daugherty is superintendent of the Richmond Water & Light Company, and has been with the concern for the past 20 years. He is also chief of Richmond's fire department which position he has held for the past 17 years.

Arthur Merrill is president; A. R. Burnham, Jr., vice president, and R. E. Turley, secretary and treasurer, of this company. They are all men of the highest type of progressiveness and stand justly high in our business, financial and social realms.

A GREAT "CURE-ALL"

Sherman Porter Tells Some of Many Ailments it is Now Taken for as a Sure Cure

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 7.—Whisky, alias spirits fermenti, is now a remedy for mule kicks, infected fingers, injured arms, general debility, sprained ankles, valvular heart trouble and many other ailments of more or less severity, according to J. Sherman Porter, chief inspector of the Prohibition Enforcement Department of Kentucky. Mr. Porter today made public some of the excuses given for issuing prescriptions for whisky by some of the score or more of physicians who his department has tried during the past year on charges of misusing the privilege. Some of the most amusing prescriptions read as follows:

"Kicked by mule, teaspoonful spirits fermenti every 3 hours."

"Recovering from infected knee—one pint whisky."

"Infected finger, tablespoonful spirits fermenti three times daily."

"Arm injured cranking automobile, teaspoonful every 3 hours."

"General debility, one pint spirits fermenti."

"Sprained ankle, tablespoonful every three hours."

"Hurt in back by fall, teaspoonful spirits fermenti every three hours."

Other ailments named in prescriptions include epilepsy, chronic indigestion, diarrhoea, periodical nervousness, insomnia and bad cold, extraction of teeth, senility, nervous prostration, menopause, nervous insomnia, hay fever and asthma, "nervous cough after flu," chronic catarrhal cough, chronic bowel trouble, "extreme nervous attacks," recovering from typhoid fever, gastritis, influenza, dysentery, cramp colic, bronchitis, malarial fever, nephritis, carditis, tuberculosis, rheumatism, neuralgia, intercostal neuralgia, tonsillitis, rheumatism, typhoid fever, pleurisy, chills and fever, flux, la grippe, painters' colic, "fall in barn," "foot cut with axe" and "hand crushed in machine."

NOTHING FOR NOTHING

"I WAS feeling bad this afternoon, and Mrs. Pollywog heard about it and brought me over some chicken broth," announced the landlady. "I thought it was very kind of her. Such considerate actions convince us that human nature is all right."

"They don't convince me, to any great extent," objected the star boarder. "Nobody ever does a good deed without expecting a reward, Mrs. Jiggers. In highly moral books intended for the young, people do such things, but never in real life."

Mrs. Pollywog will be over tomorrow to borrow your fountain pen or your tortoiseshell comb, or perhaps she will come visiting for a few days, and the cost of entertaining her would buy several barrels of chicken broth.

"I hate to have anybody do me a kindness, knowing I'll be expected to return the favor with interest in one way or another. When I was a mere boy my eyes were opened to the fact that kind actions are a delusion and a snare. Next door to us there lived an old dame named Mrs. Crimp. One day she came over to our house with a pair of woolen socks she had knitted for me. I suppose an equally good pair could have been bought at the trade palace for fifteen cents, and I wasn't overwhelmed with joy. My mother, who, with all her splendid qualities, was an easy mark, and inclined to find good in everything and everybody, was enthusiastic over Mrs. Crimp's generosity."

"But even in my infant years I was gifted with the wisdom of the serpent, and I felt from the first that there was some malevolent scheme in the background."

"The scheme was soon developed. Mrs. Crimp had many chores to do, and she hated to do them herself. There was wood to be carried into the house, and the cow to be taken care of, and a hundred other unprofitable tasks. Every time I'd meet her she'd say, 'Well, my sweet little boy, with your golden ringlets and sunny smile, how do you like the socks I made you? If you only knew how I worked, so you would have the best socks in town.' And that reminds me of a little errand I wish you would do for me. Go to Mr. Jinks, who lives seven miles north, and ask him to let you have his saw, so you can cut some kindling for me tomorrow."

"First and last, Mrs. Jiggers, I put in $1,000 worth of manual labor for that woman and my youth was poisoned, and my manhood embittered by it. I might have forgiven everything had the socks been good ones, but they were atrocious. The heels always worked around to my insteps and the tops worked down over my shoes. 'It has been that way all my life. When a man insists upon doing me a kindness I look upon him with suspicion. When I was laid up in my room with a broken leg two or three years ago, I had an excellent time. The leg hurt only at intervals, and I had plenty of novels to read, and nothing to worry over, and I would have enjoyed myself splendidly but for tiresome philanthropists who were determined to sit by my bedside and cheer me up. I didn't need any cheering up, and I tried to convince them that their visits had the opposite effect, but they wouldn't take a hint. They sat by my couch of suffering and told idiotic stories, and bored me almost to death."

"Jim Higginbottom was an especial nuisance. That man simply wouldn't go away as long as there was an excuse for staying. He said his conscience wouldn't allow him to forsake the bedside of a suffering friend. At that time I carried some accident insurance, and when my check came Jim borrowed half of it, and after he got the money he never worried over my eg any more. And he never returned any of the money. I don't blame him for that, for I make it a rule never to return borrowed money, but I can't easily forgive him for boring me so many hours, when I wanted to be reading."

Obeyed Orders.

"How is it I have such big telegraph bills?"
"You told me, sir, to use dispatch in that correspondence, so I wired all the letters."

All Have Obligations.

Every citizen has obligations in the community in which he lives. Whether a man is prominent or not he is expected to do his part in helping bring about normal conditions in this country.

A Pretty Good Method.

"Why do you encourage your boy to send his verses to the magazines? Do you want him to be a poet?" "No, merely want him to get the conceit knocked out of him, that's all."

AT 10 A. M. RAIN OR SHINE

We Will Sell for Woodard Barclay His 124 23-100 Acre Farm

LOCATION

In Madison county, 7 miles from Richmond, 1 mile from Red House, on Lost Fork Pike. This farm joins the lands of John Tribble, Newland Jones and Alies Brandenburg

IMPROVEMENTS

Six room house in good condition, cellar, everlasting water, 2 springs, 2 acre orchard, new combination stock and tobacco barn, line fences and cross fences all new. Outbuildings good. All the improvements are in good repair.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION

This farm lays well and can all be cultivated and the beauty about this is, every inch of the 124 acres is GOOD LAND. No waste land. No rocky points. You don't have to skip around over this farm and show the good spots. It will all bear the most critical inspection by the most critical observer. 20 acres under cultivation last year; 20 acre clover field; balance in grass. Close to churches and graded school under construction at Red House.

SUBDIVIDED

This farm will be divided in two tracts, as follows—

TRACT No. 1—84 acres more or less, with improvements

TRACT No. 2—40 acres, more or less, unimproved. Beautiful building site and close to pike.

HERE is your opportunity to buy a farm that you can make money on regardless of conditions. You make the price; we make the deed.

At the same time and place we will sell the personal property of Mr. Barclay.

Possession will be given immediately. Call at our office and let us show you this farm before day of sale. Terms made known on day of sale.
